ABSTRACT
This research was conducted on students majoring in government science at the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences, Mulawarman University, aimed at determining the extent of the influence of political socialization through social media and trust in the electoral system on the political participation of government science students in the 2019 presidential election. In efforts to enhance political participation, political socialization through social media is carried out because the content displayed on social media can shape perceptions and influence attitudes regarding specific candidates and political parties, as well as provide information on political issues being discussed in the election. This study employed a quantitative research method and utilized simple random sampling technique. The results of this research indicate that political socialization through social media and trust in the electoral system have a positive and significant influence on political participation. Furthermore, through the calculation of the coefficient of determination, it is found that political participation is influenced by political socialization through social media and trust in the electoral system by 0.13%, while 10.89% is influenced by other factors such as inadequate education, distance traveled, social structure, and economics.

INTRODUCTION
Abraham Lincoln mengatakan yakni "democracy is government of the people, by the people, and for the people" yang dapat diartikan menjadi demokrasi ialah pemerintahan yang berasal dari rakyat, oleh rakyat serta untuk rakyat. Sebuah demokrasi memberikan hak politik untuk warga negaranya agar berpartisipasi didalam pemilihan umum, mengambil bagian dalam proses legislatif, dan menyatakan pandangan mereka. Warga memiliki kewajiban untuk terlibat dalam didalam kehidupan bidang politik, misalnya memberikan hak suara, berpartisipasi didalam diskusi, serta mendukung lembaga/ lembaga demokrasi.

Pemilihan umum menjadi salah satu bentuk partisipasi politik utama dalam sistem demokrasi. Warga negara memiliki kesempatan untuk memilih pemimpin dan perwakilan yang mewakili kepentingan mereka. Partisipasi dalam pemilihan umum dianggap sebagai ekspresi langsung dari kekhawatiran rakyat, di mana mayoritas menentukan arah kebijakan negara.
Di zaman sekarang, generasi muda sangat apatis terhadap permasalahan yang dihadapi negara ini, tahun 2019 merupakan tahun politik dimana pemilihan kepala negara dan pemilihan anggota parlemen diharapkan bisa membawakan suatu perubahan ke arah yang
